

Graduate Research Day
2024

Making Your Research Accessible to Other Disciplines

February 27, 6-7pm over Zoom

The Graduate School is partnering with the CWE to prepare graduate students to present at the 39th annual Graduate Research Day. One of the challenges of presenting at GRD is making your research understandable to audiences outside of your discipline. GRD is judged and attended by faculty across disciplines, so research projects need to be clear and accessible. Attend this virtual workshop to learn concrete strategies for writing and speaking in plain language. You can be clear and accessible without sacrificing the complexity of your ideas—let us show you how!
